RED DEVILS FACE THE ST. FRANCIS OF TRAVERSE CITY

THEY PLAY THERE FRIDAY, SEPT. 19th.

Forty football candidates began their second week of drill Monday afternoon of this week as the East Jordan High School "Red Devils" prepare for their opening game with Traverse City St. Francis at Traverse City Friday evening September 19th.

The biggest task facing Coaches Saxton and Downing is that of finding a replacement for Don Whiteford, who was lost through graduation last spring. Whiteford spearheaded the locals to their first undefeated-untied season in history last fall. Whiteford handled the biggest share of ball carrying chores in addition to doing the passing, kicking, and kickoff duties. Also of no little concern to the coaching staff is that of finding replacements for other graduates including lineman, Earl Bowers, Dan Thomas, Robert Thomas, Donald Maxwell, and left halfback, Norman McGeorge. Keith Evans and Ray Gee, regulars back from the 1951 aggregation, are lettermen Sam Milstein and Robert Romback along with Floyd Detloff, Bob Darbee, Warren Frank, Robert Danforth, Robert Russell, Allen Sommerville, Gordon Danforth, and Richard Streeter. As yet Coach Saxton hasn't indicated who the starting quintet will be.

Lineman working out include letter winners Leon Bartlett, Steve Hayden, James Sherman, Richard Freeman, James Weisler, J. M. Ingalls, and James Shepard. Others who show promise include Larry Chanda, Jerry Sweet, William Rogers, James Blaha, Floyd Cutler, Richard Johnson, Jack Zoulek, Ronald Wilson, Terry Murphy and James Petrie.

While the Food Preperation and Conservation Clubs received a B and C respectively. The other projects that were exhibited and did not receive ribbons for various reasons were knitting, Jr. Leadership, Swine, Poultry, Rabbit, Beef and Home Improvement. Many thanks are due to the leaders and parents for the help to make this showing a success.

School Time Brings Child Safety Plea

With the reopening of schools and nearly one and one-half million Michigan children crossing streets and highways on their way to and from classrooms, Sgt. Harold Moore, commander of the Gaylord State Police post, is urging all persons to take part in the current statewide child safety campaign.

"Last year," Sgt. Moore said, "8,247 children under 15 years of age were killed or injured in Michigan traffic, an average of about 160 casualties each week."

"More often than not the children were victims of their own carelessness, but many of the tragedies could have been avoided if drivers had been more alert and expecting the unexpected.

"Drivers should take special precautions, not only in school and playground areas, but in all areas where children are likely to be. They also should always remember that thousands of preschool age children will be outdoors during all hours of the day. In other words, children may be anywhere, any time.

"Likewise, adult pedestrians, parents especially, can help prevent accidents involving children by practicing safe walking habits. Adults should realize that their own actions are examples boys and girls observe and follow. Too often these are examples of carelessness.

"Help protect children. For their sake — as well as your own — walk and drive carefully."

The slogan of the campaign, which is sponsored by the State Safety Commission, is "Watch Out For Kids."

Star Attractions Herald Approach Of Fall Weather

Venus is coming, folks! Watch for her.

After an absence of a year, Venus is again emerging as the "evening star" and may be seen near the western horizon in the early twilight, setting about an hour after the sun, according to Miss Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

This brightest of planets is continually increasing its distance from the sun in the sky, moving farther and farthher east, Prof. Losh says. Consequently, it may be more easily seen throughout the fall months as it appears higher and higher in the evening's western sky.

The astronomer indicates fall will actually arrive September 22 at 9:24 p.m. That's the time the sun reaches the autumnal equinox and crosses the equator, bringing spring to those south of it.

The sun reaches an altitude of about 50 degrees at noon in September, but decreases to less than 25 degrees by December. These oblique rays of the sun and its shorter daily path account for the colder weather.

The constellation of Pegasus, the Winged Horse, is well placed for observation in the east this month. Rising around sunset and well above the horizon after dark, it's chief interest lies in "Thet Great Square" or "Big Diamond." It is one of the stellar landmarks, Miss Losh indicates, being about 15 degrees on a side and composed of fairly bright stars.

Artificial Breeding Make Good Sires

Artificial breeding makes some of the best sires available to all dairymen, according to A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State College extension dairyman. He points to the record of the Frank Aert herd near Hart in Oceana County as an example.

During his first two years of testing in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, 1950 and 1951, Aert's herd of grade and registered Holsteins averaged 474 pounds of butter fat and 478 pounds of butter-fat, respectively Tester Russell Kenfield, of the DHIA, says that the association average for 1951 was 384 pounds of butterfat per cow for the year.

Baltzer points out that if a dairyman's herd of cows approaches the state DHIA average for the first 2 years of testing, it is considered good. "When a herd of 12 cows averages 100 pounds of butterfat above the state DHIA average, that is really something," he adds.

The herd consists of 6 artificially-bred daughters. They have completed 10 lactations in the past two years and have averaged 14,581 pounds of milk and 512 pounds of fat.

At the present rate of production, Aert estimates his cows are returning each year about $350 per cow above feed costs. That is about $130 above the state DHIA average per cow for return over feed cost.

"With sires proven for type and production available to every dairy farmer in the state, farmers have easy access to greater production ability in their cows," Baltzer says.

Sell Old Hens To Cut Disease

Sell old hens in the fall to cut disease in the pullet flock, recommend poultry specialists at Michigan State College.

Mixed flocks have more avian tuberculosis than young flocks, research has shown. If the old hens are sold before pullets go off range, poultrymen will have a chance to clean and disinfect laying houses thoroughly.

It's also a good time to do the necessary rat-proofing work for the winter, they note, adding that rats spread disease in poultry.

County agricultural agents can offer complete details on laying house preparations.

Pre-School Clinic Sept. 16th.

INFANT AND PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC IN OFFICE AT SCHOOL

The September Infant and Pre-School Clinic will be held in the office of the School and Community Nurse Tuesday, September 16, 1:30-3:00 p.m. Dr. Litzenburger, Director of the District Health Department will be in attendance.

Every baby should be immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox.

Babies are born with no protection against whooping cough, smallpox or tetanus. Immunizations should be given early. This is because all of these diseases are serious in infancy, and because with the exception of smallpox, it takes several months for the baby to build up his own defense against them. With the newer, more effective vaccines, even young babies can be successfully protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus.

We urge you to take your baby to your family doctor, if you have not already done so. Each doctor may have a slightly different schedule, the important thing is to have your baby immunized when he needs the protection. He should receive his first dose of vaccine when he is two or three months old then every month until he has the complete course. He should receive a booster shot when he is one year old. Vacinated for smallpox during the first year.

If you are unable to go to your family doctor you are welcome to attend the clinic Tuesday, September 16th 1:30-3:00 p.m. in the office of the Community and School Nurse. Protect your baby against a sickness that you might have prevented.

Making Your Home A Safer Place

More people are injured in the home than any other place. And more injuries to women seem to occur in the kitchen than any other room. With those startling facts in mind, Olevia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department, offers some concrete suggestions about making your home a safer place to live.

Cuts are the most common injury and so, Miss Meyer suggests, take precautions by avoiding improper use and storage of knives, broken china and glass and sharp-edged cans and metal parts on tools and equipment.

Never throw sharp knives in a drawer with other tools, she warns, and don't put them in a dishpan with other dishes. A knife rack should be within easy reach and so constructed that the hand doesnot come in contact with sharp points or edges.

Burns are the second most common injuries. Usually they result from carelessness and thoughtlessness. So, suggests Miss Meyer, turn on hot water faucets cautiously, turn pan handles away from the edge of the range so they can't be knocked or pulled off, and use pans that have flat bottoms with securely-fastened, well-Balanced handles. Other means of avoiding burns are to prepare a place to set a pan of hot food before removing it from the stove; have plenty of pot holders within easy reach of the range; keep matches in tin or glass containers and out of children's reach; provide children a safe place to play in or near the kitchen, but out of the working area.

Falls rank high as cause of injuries and care should be taken to prevent them, she said. Keep floors and floor coverings in good repair and free from spilled foods.

State Bank of East Jordan Purchases the Grand Champion

The State Bank of East Jordan purchased the grand champion Herford steer at the fat stock show at the Charlevoix County Fair at East Jordan Thursday, September 4, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. This steer was owned by Jim Behling of Boyne City and brought $42.50 per hundred. The steer weighed 1000 pounds at the time of the sale. The weight at the beginning of the project was 415 pounds making a gain of 585 pounds.

There were 20 animals sold at this second fat stock sale. The reserve champion was purchased by the Gaylord Livestock auction for $41.00 per hundred. The reserve champion steer weighed 1035 pounds.

Twelve more boys are feeding steers for next year's show and these steers were caught in this years calf scramble. There will be no other steers on feed other than these calf scramble steers.

For Higher Return Fatten Hogs Early

Hogs approaching market should be self fed a balanced ration on good pasture, advises Harry F. Moxley, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State College. Rapid gains are important to early marketing, before the market is glutted and prices break in mid-October or earlier.

Green Manures Aid Soil, Stop Erosion Losses

Value of good grass-legume rotation mixtures for soil improvement often is overlooked because they do not bring immediate returns, reports Mr. Leonard J. Braamse, Michigan State College extension soil conservationist.

They are the key, however, to most soil conservation practices, he advises. Sod crops add home grown organic matter as well as nitrogen, reduce erosion losses, improve soil structure, increase water intake and increase soil productivity, the specialist points out.

Homemakers' Corner

Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

The old saying "home sweet home" might well be altered to "home safe home," according to Olevia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department. In the past two years in Michigan the total deaths resulting from home accidents ranked second only to the number of motor vehicle accidental deaths.

Miss Meyer gives other interesting facts about home accidents that will indicate danger areas. Kitchens are the most dangerous rooms—more accidents occur there than anywhere else. Cuts and pierces are the most frequent injuries for both men and women, with burns and bruises ranking second and third. Women are the victims of home injuries twice as often as men, although men do have a high rate of injury in yards surrounding the home.

Falls and fires take the greatest toll of deaths among home accidents, she said. And older people are especially vulnerable to injury through falls, with stair steps a special menace.

Miss Meyer suggests that kitchen accidents usually occur when people are careless, in a hurry or tired. Disorder, poor judgement, and using the wrong or faulty equipment also contribute to a high accident rate in kitchens. She also warned against improper use of equipment.

Boswell — Darbee Return Home From Banking School

Two men from East Jordan, Mich., were among the 691 students from 31 states who have just completed a two-week residence session at the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states, requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation. A total of 205 seniors from 27 states received their diplomas at the school's 1952 graduation exercises Friday night, Sept. 5.

Attendance at the 1952 School of Banking enabled its students at Wisconsin's State University not only to meet a large number bankers from all over the country, but they also had the opportunity of hearing the school's distinguished lecturers, this year 103 experts from all parts of the nation, who are recongnized authorities in banking, economics, law and industrial, and agricultural and financial problems.

They are William G. Boswell and Howard C. Darbee, State Bank of East Jordan.

Record Exhibit At County Fair

4-H leaders and their members went all out to make a record exhibit at the 63rd annual county fair held at East Jordan last week.

A total of 319 leaders and members made a record display of 678 exhibits.

The exhibits showed the best preparation ever seen. 4-H cattle were well groomed and were kept so throughout the week, vegetables were well selected and attractively arranged. 4-H club members made quite a sacrifice in preserving their clothing and knitting exhibits of last winter so they would look well at the county fair. For summer 4-H club work the fair is the achievement day or culiminating event but most of the projects do not end until gardens and crops are harvested and reports submitted to the county 4-H office.

A few of the outstanding exhibits to be mentioned could be the excellent desk, chairs and lamp made by Joe Martincheck of Route 2, Charlevoix, the dairy animals exhibited by the South Arm club of East Jordan, Archie Murphy leader, the remarkable exhibit of knitted articles of Mrs. Leatha Larsen's club of East Jordan. Although the South Arm Club had the blue ribbon display in clothing, the largest and most complete display was made by the Boyne City clothing club.

The best food preparation display was made by Mrs. Agnes Healey, leader of the Star food club. Garden club honors were shared by South Arm and Star clubs, both were given first place ribbons, leaders were Mrs. Carl Elsworth and Mrs. Frank Hayden.

Conservation Cartoon Contest

OPEN TO STUDENTS ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES

The National Wildlife Federation has asked the high school students of American to create a cartoon character which can be used to tell the story of conservation—and offered prizes totaling $700 in a nationwide contest.

The cartoon contest will take the place of the annual conservation poster contest which the Federation has sponsored for 15 years. Entries must be submitted by next Jan. 31 and winners will be announced during National Wildlife Week in March 1953.

As in the previous poster contests, the cartoon competition will be divided into junior-high and senior-high groups. Students anywhere in the United States, from the seventh grade through the last year in high school, are eligible.

First prize in the Junior division—grades 7, 8 and 9 — is $100. The second best entry will win $50; third, $25; the next ten best, $10 each.

Top winner in the Senior division—grades 10, 11 and 12—will get $250. Second prize is $50; third, $25; next ten, $10 each.

The Federation said the contest was inspired by the success of "Smokey Bear," the cartoon character developed by the U. S. Forest Service in its advertising campaign to prevent forest fires. The wildlife organization hopes to find a similar cartoon symbol which can be used to urge Americans to take care of their natural resources.

The Federation had these suggestions for young artists:

Entries may be a caricature of an animal or person, or the personification of an animan in the manner of another artist. In order to win an entry must be original in design.

The cartoon character may be depicted in an action or pose suggestive of some conservation problem or practice and should be accompanied by an appropriate legend or slogan. The theme may be soil conservation, forstery, water pollution control, flood prevention, protection of wildlife or plant life, or another phase of natural resource management.

The drawing should be done in pen and ink, pencil, charcoal, scratchboard, water color, or other standard medium suitable for reproduction in a newspaper or magazine.

For a copy of the contest rules and other information, write to the Cartoon Contest, National Wildlife Federations, 3308 Fourteenth Street, N. W., Washington 10, D. C.

Home Economics Jottings

Here's a simple and easy way to get your corn off the cob for canning or freezing. Use an angel-food cake pan. Place the ear on the projection in the middle of the pan and with a sharp knife slice the corn from the ear.

Hang clothes up on the straight of the goods putting clothespins at the firmest part.

One method of removing iron rust from white materials is to spread the stain over a pan of boiling water and then squeeze lemon juice on it. After a few minutes, rinse and repeat process. This method is slow--but safe, say Michigan State College home economists.

If your nylon or orlon curtains are neatly folded when you wash them, you will have less trouble with wrinkles and probably less pressing to do. Wash by the usual method, swishing the folded curtains up and through the sudsy wash waters, recommend Michigan State College textiles specialists.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Narrow Town— Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip:

"Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel!

"To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—'there's a train coming!' But the gas fellow just laughs and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!"

From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to "think of the other fellow" so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fanciers and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's "right of way."

Willow Ptaamigan

Eskimos have to keep a sharp lookout when they are hunting Willow Ptarmigan, for the big birds are clever at concealing themselves. When snow covers the ground, they're mostly white, with just a little black on their tails. After the spring thaws, they turn partly brown to match the summer landscape.

Splotches of brown, mixed with some black, cover the male's neck, upper breast, and sides. The rest of his body, in the summer, is mostly white. His tail a dark brown. The female is about the same color, but paler, and there is more white on her head.

Most people in the United States never get to see the changeable birds, because they stay so far north all year. The National Wildlife Federation says that Willow Ptarmingan make their summer homes from Greenland to Alaska. In the winter they come down to central and southern Canada, and only a few of them venture into the northern fringes of our country.

So hardy are the Willow Ptarmigan that they build their nests on the bare ground of the treeless Artic plains. In a hollow lined with a few feathers, leaves or bits of grass, the female lays from six to fifteen large eggs. The eggs are a deep, reddish-cream color, with splotches of purple-brown.

After the female keeps them warm for 26 days, the eggs hatch sometime in July. Both before and after the young birds appear, the male stays near to protect his home against fur-bearing animals and birds of prey.

Getting food for the nesting family is another problem for the parents themselves are big, and the young have hearty appetites. In the summer, while they are still in the far north, they eat the leaves of bushes and trees, together with some insects now and then. For winter meals, they like berries and the tips of tender twigs.

Though they sometimes have trouble in finding enough food, Willow Ptarmingan grow to be large birds—measuring seventeen inches from bill to tail. They are plump, too, and this is much to the liking of the Eskimos, who make many a meal of Ptarmigan.

Lift truck boosts profits for fruit growers

Fruit growers who handle 10,000 crates a year can realize generous savings on labor and equipment costs by using a fork lift truck. A recent study by agricultural engineers of Michigan State College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture revealed this saving: In 1950, without a lift truck, a 25,000-bushel apple crop was moved from orchard to storage by 2 tractors, 4 orchard trailers and 7 men. In 1951 a similar crop was handled by a lift truck with 2 tractors and only 2 trailers and 3 men. Savings on loading and unloading operations alone amounted to $1,000 during the harvest season. Your County Agricultural Agent can give you further advice on mechanizing your orchard operation.

Why we pamper telephone poles

Did you know timber for telephone poles is growing scarce? And that the cost of a single pole has more than doubled since 1940? To insure a proper supply, and to help keep costs down, Michigan Bell is using new timber species such as Western Larch. And to prolong the life of telephone poles on the job, telephone engineers constantly take advantage of new and better timber preservatives. Michigan Bell's pampered poles are further evidence of a continuing effort to hold costs down while keeping the quality of telephone service high.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

A letter from "Eenie" Richards informs us that he is moving up around Dover. They have about six months work building some hardstands there. He says it's really been raining there lately but none of the "pea Soup" fog as yet. His outfit was out on a three day bivouac last week and spent some time firing the M-1 and the carbine. Eenie's new APO number is 125. He's still with Co A, 817th EAB in England.

Earl Morrison has a new address. He's still at Barksdale AFB in Louisiana but he is now in the 805th Installation Sqdrn, 805 Air Base Group. Looks as if Earl has found himself some regular Air Force work for now.

Dale Lavanway checked in from Fort Devens, Mass. this week to give us a change of address. He doesn't tell much of what he is studying but I guess those boys up at Fort Devens are expected to be a little close-mouthed. He writes, "Just a short letter to let you know of a small change in my address. It now is: Pvt Dale Lavanway, RA 16 404 493, Co G, Stu Bn, ASATR, Fort Devens, Mass.

'I have started school now so that is why I have a different address. School lasts from 7 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. I'm supposed to go to this school for 12 weeks but I'll still get out before the Morris twins do. I see them every once in a while. Maybe we will be lucky enough to get home together.

'This is Fair Week so I imagine things are pretty busy around East Jordan. Gooy-bye and thanks for the paper."

Nothing much has been said recently concerning who is sending this paper out to you servicemen so perhaps this would be as good a time as any to review the situation. During World War II a local organization was formed in E.J. consisting of two representatives of all the other organizations in this vicinity. This organization was called the Service Mens Club. It's purpose was to keep the welfare of the servicemen and women in front of all the home people and to do something for these men and women who were in the service of the U.S. protecting the ones at home. This organization was supported by contributions from all the other organizations in town and also by special benefits from time to time. When the present emergency arose and the men started to leave again for the service it was suggested that thhis club be revived and function as it had in World War II. This was done and here you are receiving your weekly paper which is paid for and sent to you by this Service Mens Club with the recent help of the East Jordan Community Chest.

A card from Hotts Tot Shop informs us that Ralph Hott FT3 is now with the FTA School, Class 1252, USNRS, Bldg T5, in Washington 25, D.C. Boy, Ralph, you sure are up with the big shots. Are you in the Pentagon by any chance?

After a longe absence we again have Bill Snyder with us. His new address is: Pvt. Wilbur E. Snyder RA 16 405 480, Student Co. 12, TSESS, Det TSU 9600, Camp Gordon, Georgia. Bill — have you run across Leo Danforth as yet? He's in Student Co. No. 3, TSESS in the same Detachment as you.

Earl Muma has reappeared in Amarillo AFB down in Texas. He's there with Walter Moblo and Ed Drapeau. Earls address is: A/3C Forest Earl Muma, 3320 Tech Trng Wing, 3365 Stu Squadron, Amarillo AFB, Texas. In case you men have not already located each other you'll find Walt in the 3366 Student Squadron and Ed can be found over in the 3338 Student Sqdrn.

Last week I made a comment in this letter concerning those boys who are out of High School but still not of Draft age. Well, Well, it seems that Joe Hammond, away over on the other side of of the Atlantic, was doing some thinking about the same thing at about the same time. Anyway, here are some excerpts from a letter whihch he wrote to his folks concerning the advisability of his brother Bernard joinging up. (Bernard is just 17) Joe writes, "I have seen kids come into this outfit and all they have learned is to drink and smoke and go with the wrong women. These kids think because they have a uniform on they are big wheels and can get served at any bar. — When he becomes 18 years old he can join any branch of service that he likes and then if he doesn't like it he can blame none but himself. The Navy has done me some good in a few ways. I have realized a few things. But you can bet your boots it's no place for a kid."

Of course, what Joe had reference to was a parent signing up for a 17 year old who had not finished High School and was going to quit and go into the service at once. That, if you will remember, is in agreement with what I wrote last week. What I was commenting on was the lost time between graduation from High School and the Draft age of 19 years.

Does anyone know where Alfred Hosler is? When he left here after his furlough and returned to the service he left me the address of Company G, Fort Custer, Michigan. It didn't sound right at the time but he insisted that was all the address they gave him. However, now his papers are being returned. If anyone knows his correct address please bring it in.

Bill Anderson has taken to the airways and his address is now A/B William C. Anderson, Flight 1070, 3703 Training Squadron, Lackland AFB, Texas. Bill I'm glad to see you made the grade so far and wish you lots of luck from here on. Will you, sometime soon, check and find out if Sqd 3703 of Flight 816 is still in training there in Lackland and if Stanley Antoine is still in it? Thanks.

Bob Farmer has reached his base in Korea and sends the following address: A/3C Robert C. Farmer, AF 16 379 489, 6160th Comm Sqd, Box 91, APO 929, C/o p.m. San Francisco, Calif. Bob says that his base is small but very nice and that the food is excellent. He works eight hours a day. The radios must be kept in perfect condition twenty-four hours a day. They are not allowed to leave the base at present. They are about 90 miles from the Combat Zone. The weather there is grand.

Jim Lewis is settled at Fort Leonard Wood and wrote us a letter as follows: "I've had my first week of basic, and can't complain of bad treatment yet. Of the five of us who left Charlevoix, August 6, three are still together, in the same platoon — Don Gill, Les Melin (both of Charlevoix), and myself. Don is a squard leader, but not of my squard. We had a first long march yesterday, the packs as heavy as they no doubt are always the first time, and the sun as hot. Our company is headed for the Engineer's Corps, after basic, at least most of us. But we will, of course, not stay together.

'I'll be looking forward to my first furlough and a trip back to East Jordan, you can be sure." Thanks, Jim.

Vale Keller is whiling away his time in beautiful Hawaii waiting shipment to Japan. His sister gave me his address as — A/3C Vale Keller, APO 226, C/o PM, San Francisco, California. It seems as though he should have at least a temporary holding outfit number —but she says no so we'll try a couple of papers and see what happens.

Floyd Dufore checks in from Pohang, Korea with the following letter — "Just a few lines to bring you up to date. I have been on the move from the States since June 20th — without an address. Guess my papers are pretty well spread out.

'Have made another rate since I last wrote you sometime ago. I am still in the supply field — some racket — as you know. This is the first permanent address I have had. I will be here for some time for sure. After 42 months in one squadron there in the States I think it was about time I had a transfer, eh?" Here's Floyds address — S/Sgt Floyd L. Durfore, 109 53 04, Hedrow 1, FMAW (Flight Line), C/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif. Congratulations on the boost, Floyd, and thanks for the letter.

Bruce Bolser is home from duty aboard the Owens for this week and the next. He is due back aboard at Norfolk on the 21st of this month.

Wayne Flora was last heard from in San Francisco on his way home from Korea. He ought to be getting in here at any time now.

John Bennett is to be discharged this week. One more man who has served his hitch and now re-enters civvies.

Guess I was mixed up a little about Glenn Persons last week. I wrote that he was leaving shortly for Germany and just had time for a 72 hour leave before embarking. I don't know where I got it — must have been dreaming. Anyway, here's the latest and correct dope. Glenn just got back to the states on August 30 from Bremerhaven, Germany. Now his ship, the USS Botetourt, is leaving for Puerto Rico on September 15th. He doesn't know as yet how long he will be there. Keep an eye out for Jim Meredith aboard the USS Formoe and for Don Braman aboard the USS Recovery while down there, Jim.

That's all my notes, so it's So Long until next week.

Ring-Necked Phesants

There was a time, many years ago, when Ring-Necked Phesants were found only in China. From there they spread to Europe, America, and other parts of the world. Whereever they live today, the colorful birds are eagerly sought each season by hunters.

To keep the supply plentiful in our country, state game departments raise and free large numbers of Pheasants every year. Though hatched and held in captivity part of their lives, the birds are wild when turned loose. They show no signs of having lived in pens.

When on their own, Pheasants dominate the territory in which they roam. With a fighting spirit, they crowd out other birds. The

©1952 National Wildlife Federation
Ring-necked Pheasant

male Phesant is the battler of the family, and he often engages in combat with another male or with a barnyard rooster.

The male also sports some of the gayest feathers in the world of birds. Around his eye there is a bright spot of red. His head and neck are dark greenish-purple. Below that he wears a white collar. The rest of his body is a mixture of brilliant colors—red, bronze, green, brown, yellow, and bluish-black.

By comparison the female Phesant is dull and plain—a mixture of brown and chestnut, speckled with black. While this makes her less attractive, the National Wildlife Federation points out that she can hide in the grass more easily than her mate.

This is especially important in the spring, when she is sitting on her nest. It is built on the ground, among some weeds, and contains from six to twelve large, ovile-buff. After she keeps them warm for 23 days, they hatch.

The female takes care of the young until fall. Then they lose their first feathers and begin to resemble their parents. When fully grown, the males are from 33 to 36 inches long and the females are about 20 inches in length. They weigh up to 4½ pounds. Both birds have long slender tails, and the male wears strong spurs on his legs.

As the weather turns cold, Ring-Necked Pheasants do not journey southward, but stay right where they are. Most of them live the year round in the northeastern fourth of the United States—from Maine to the Dakotas and south to Kansas and Pennsylvania.

Their favorite haunts, in this region, are the farmlands where corn and other grains grow. About two-thirds of their food consists of grain and plant life. To round out their meals, they eat great quantities of insects.

Despite their appetite for grain, Phesants are not a serious menace to farmers. According to the National Wildlife Federation, hunters keep the number of birds down within limits which are controlled by game and conservation authorities.

VOLUME 56 — EAST JORDAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1952 — NUMBER 37

RED DEVILS FACE THE ST. FRANCIS OF TRAVERSE CITY

THEY PLAY THERE FRIDAY, SEPT. 19th.

Forty football candidates began their second week of drill Monday afternoon of this week as the East Jordan High School "Red Devils" prepare for their opening game with Traverse City St. Fransis at Traverse City Friday evening September 19th.

The biggest task facing Coaches Saxton and Downing is that of finding a replacement for Don Whiteford, who was lost through graduation last spring. Whiteford spearheaded the locals to their first undefeated-untied season in history last fall. Whiteford handled the biggest share of ball carrying chores in addition to doing the passing, kicking, and kickoff duties. Also of no little concern to the coaching staff is that of finding replacements for other graduates including lineman, Earl Bowers, Dan Thomas, Robert Thomas, Donald Maxwell, and left halfback, Norman McGeorge. Keith Evans and Ray Gee, regulars back from the 1951 aggregation, are lettermen Sam Milstein and Robert Romback along with Floyd Detloff, Bob Darbee, Warren Frank, Robert Danforth, Robert Russell, Allen Sommerville, Gordon Danforth, and Richard Streeter. As yet Coach Saxton hasn't indicated who the starting quintet will be.

Lineman working out include letter winners Leon Bartlett, Steve Hayden, James Sherman, Richard Freeman, James Weisler, J. M. Ingalls, and James Shepard. Others who show promise include Larry Chanda, Jerry Sweet, William Rogers, James Blaha, Floyd Cutler, Richard Johnson, Jack Zoulek, Ronald Wilson, Terry Murphy and James Petrie.

Handicraft, Tractor Maintaince, Canning, First Aid and Health, Flower Garden, Vegetable Garden, Clothing, Photography, Electrical and Dairy clubs received A's. While the Food Preperation and Conservation Clubs received a B and C respectively. The other projects that were exhibited and did not receive ribbons for various reasons were knitting, Jr. Leadership, Swine, Poultry, Rabbit, Beef and Home Improvement. Many thanks are due to the leaders and parents for the help to make this showing a success.

School Time Brings Child Safety Plea

With the reopening of schools and nearly one and one-half million Michigan children crossing streets and highways on their way to and from classrooms, Sgt. Harold Moore, commander of the Gaylord State Police post, is urging all persons to take part in the current statewide child safety campaign.

"Last year," Sgt. Moore said, "8,247 children under 15 years of age were killed or injured in Michigan traffic, an average of about 160 casualties each week."

"More often than not the children were victims of their own carelessness, but many of the tragedies could have been avoided if drivers had been more alert and expecting the unexpected.

"Drivers should take special precautions, not only in school and playground areas, but in all areas where children are likely to be. They also should always remember that thousands of preschool age children will be outdoors during all hours of the day. In other words, children may be anywhere, any time.

"Likewise, adult pedestrians, parents especially, can help prevent accidents involving children by practicing safe walking habits. Adults should realize that their own actions are examples boys and girls observe and follow. Too often these are examples of carelessness.

"Help protect children. For their sake — as well as your own — walk and drive carefully."

The slogan of the campaign, which is sponsored by the State Safety Commission, is "Watch Out For Kids."

Star Attractions Herald Approach Of Fall Weather

Venus is coming, folks! Watch for her.

After an absence of a year, Venus is again emerging as the "evening star" and may be seen near the western horizon in the early twilight, setting about an hour after the sun, according to Miss Hazel M. Losh, associate professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

This brightest of planets is continually increasing its distance from the sun in the sky, moving farther and farthher east, Prof. Losh says. Consequently, it may be more easily seen throughout the fall months as it appears higher and higher in the evening's western sky.

The astronomer indicates fall will actually arrive September 22 at 9:24 p.m. That's the time the sun reaches the autumnal equinox and crosses the equator, bringing spring to those south of it.

The sun reaches an altitude of about 50 degrees at noon in September, but decreases to less than 25 degrees by December. These oblique rays of the sun and it's shorter daily path account for the colder weather.

The constellation of Pegasus, the Winged Horse, is well placed for observation in the east this month. Rising around sunset and well above the horizon after dark, it's chief interest lies in "Thet Great Square" or "Big Diamond." It is one of the stellar landmarks, Miss Losh indicates, being about 15 degrees on a side and composed of fairly bright stars.

Artificial Breeding Make Good Sires

Artificial breeding makes some of the best sires available to all dairymen, according to A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State College extension dairyman. He points to the record of the Frank Aert herd near Hart in Oceana County as an example.

During his first two years of testing in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, 1950 and 1951, Aert's herd of grade and registered Holsteins averaged 474 pounds of butter fat and 478 pounds of butter-fat, respectively Tester Russell Kenfield, of the DHIA, says that the association average for 1951 was 384 pounds of butterfat per cow for the year.

Baltzer points out that if a dairyman's herd of cows approaches the state DHIA average for the first 2 years of testing, it is considered good. "When a herd of 12 cows averages 100 pounds of butterfat above the state DHIA average, that is really something," he adds.

The herd consists of 6 artificially-bred daughters. They have completed 10 lactations in the past two years and have averaged 14,581 pounds of milk and 512 pounds of fat.

At the present rate of production, Aert estimates his cows are returning each year about $350 per cow above feed costs. That is about $130 above the state DHIA average per cow for return over feed cost.

"With sires proven for type and production available to every dairy farmer in the state, farmers have easy access to greater production ability in their cows," Baltzer says.

Sell Old Hens To Cut Disease

Sell old hens in the fall to cut disease in the pullet flock, reccommend poultry specialists at Michigan State College.

Mixed flocks have more avian tuberculosis than young flocks, research has shown. If the old hens are sold before pullets go off range, poultrymen will have a chance to clean and disinfect laying houses thoroughly.

It's also a good time to do the necessary rat-proofing work for the winter, they note, adding that rats spread disease in poultry.

County agricultural agents can offer complete details on laying house preparations.

Pre-School Clinic Sept. 16th.

INFANT AND PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC IN OFFICE AT SCHOOL

The September Infant and Pre-School Clinic will be held in the office of the School and Community Nurse Tuesday, September 16, 1:30-3:00 p.m. Dr. Litzenburger, Director of the District Health Department will be in attendance.

Every baby should be immunized against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and smallpox.

Babies are born with no protection against whooping cough, smallpox or tetanus. Immunizations should be given early. This is because all of these diseases are serious in infancy, and because with the exception of smallpox, it takes several months for the baby to build up his own defense against them. With the newer, more effective vaccines, even young babies can be successfully protected against diphtheria, whooping cough, and tetanus.

We urge you to take your baby to your family doctor, if you have not already done so. Each doctor may have a slightly different schedule, the important thing is to have your baby immunized when he needs the protection. He should receive his first dose of vaccine when he is two or three months old then every month until he has the complete course. He should receive a booster shot when he is one year old. Vacinated for smallpox during the first year.

If you are unable to go to your family doctor you are welcome to attend the clinic Tuesday, September 16th 1:30-3:00 p.m. in the office of the Community and School Nurse. Protect your baby against a sickness that you might have prevented.

Making Your Home A Safer Place

More people are injured in the home than any other place. And more injuries to women seem to occur in the kitchen than any other room. With those startling facts in mind, Olevia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department, offers some concrete suggestions about making your home a safer place to live.

Cuts are the most common injury and so, Miss Meyer suggests, take precautions by avoiding improper use and storage of knives, broken china and glass and sharp-edged cans and metal parts on tools and equipment.

Never throw sharp knives in a drawer with other tools, she warns, and don't put them in a dishpan with other dishes. A knife rack should be within easy reach and so constructed that the hand doesnot come in contact with sharp points or edges.

Burns are the second most common injuries. Usually they result from carelessness and thoughtlessness. So, suggests Miss Meyer, turn on hot water faucets cautiously, turn pan handles away from the edge of the range so they can't be knocked or pulled off, and use pans that have flat bottoms with securely-fastened, well-Balanced handles. Other means of avoiding burns are to prepare a place to set a pan of hot food before removing it from the stove; have plenty of pot holders within easy reach of the range; keep matches in tin or glass containers and out of children's reach; provide children a safe place to play in or near the kitchen, but out of the working area.

Falls rank high as cause of injuries and care should be taken to prevent them, she said. Keep floors and floor coverings in good repair and free from spilled foods.

State Bank of East Jordan Purchases the Grand Champion

The State Bank of East Jordan purchased the grand champion Herford steer at the fat stock show at the Charlevoix County Fair at East Jordan Thursday, September 4, according to Ed Rebman, county agricultural agent. This steer was owned by Jim Behling of Boyne City and brought $42.50 per hundred. The steer weighed 1000 pounds at the time of the sale. The weight at the beginning of the project was 415 pounds making a gain of 585 pounds.

There were 20 animals sold at this second fat stock sale. The reserve champion was purchased by the Gaylord Livestock auction for $41.00 per hundred. The reserve champion steer weighed 1035 pounds.

Twelve more boys are feeding steers for next year's show and these steers were caught in this years calf scramble. There will be no other steers on feed other than these calf scramble steers.

For Higher Return Fatten Hogs Early

Hogs approaching market should be self fed a balanced ration on good pasture, advises Harry F. Moxley, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State College. Rapid gains are important to early marketing, before the market is glutted and prices break in mid-October or earlier.

Green Manures Aid Soil, Stop Erosion Losses

Value of good grass-legume rotation mixtures for soil improvement often is overlooked because they do not bring immediate returns, reports Mr. Leonard J. Braamse, Michigan State College extension soil conservationist.

They are the key, however, to most soil conservation practices, he advises. Sod crops add home grown organic matter as well as nitrogen, reduce erosion losses, improve soil structure, increase water intake and increase soil productivity, the specialist points out.

Homemakers' Corner
— by —
Home Economics Specialists Michigan State College

The old saying "home sweet home" might well be altered to "home safe home," according to Olevia Meyer of the Michigan State College home management department. In the past two years in Michigan the total deaths resulting from home accidents ranked second only to the number of motor vehicle accidental deaths.

Miss Meyer gives other interesting facts about home accidents that will indicate danger areas. Kitchens are the most dangerous rooms--more accidents occur there than anywhere else. Cuts and pierces are the most frequent injuries for both men and women, with burns and bruises ranking second and third. Women are the victims of home injuries twice as often as men, although men do have a high rate of injury in yards surrounding the home.

Falls and fires take the greatest toll of deaths among home accidents, she said. And older people are especially vulnerable to injury through falls, with stair steps a special menace.

Miss Meyer suggests that kitchen accidents usually occur when people are careless, in a hurry or tired. Disorder, poor judgement, and using the wrong or faulty equipment also contribute to a high accident rate in kitchens. She also warned against improper use of equipment.

Boswell — Darbee Return Home From Banking School

Two men from East Jordan, Mich., were among the 691 students from 31 states who have just completed a two-week residence session at the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states, requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation. A total of 205 seniors from 27 states received their diplomas at the school's 1952 graduation exercises Friday night, Sept. 5.

Attendance at the 1952 School of Banking enabled its students at Wisconsin's State University not only to meet a large number bankers from all over the country, but they also had the opportunity of hearing the school's distinguished lecturers, this year 103 experts from all parts of the nation, who are recongnized authorities in banking, economics, law and industrial, and agricultural and financial problems.

They are William G. Boswell and Howard C. Darbee, State Bank of East Jordan.

Record Exhibit At County Fair

4-H leaders and their members went all out to make a record exhibit at the 63rd annual county fair held at East Jordan last week. A total of 319 leaders and members made a record display of 673 exhibits.

The exhibits showed the best preparation ever seen. 4-H cattle were well groomed and were kept so throughout the week, vegetables were well selected and attractively arranged. 4-H club members made quite a sacrifice in preserving their clothing and knitting exhibits of last winter so they would look well at the county fair. For summer 4-H club work the fair is the achievement day or culiminating event but most of the projects do not end until gardens and crops are harvested and reports submitted to the county 4-H office.

A few of the outstanding exhibits to be mentioned could be the excellent desk, chairs and lamp made by Joe Martincheck of Route 2, Charlevoix, the dairy animals exhibited by the South Arm club of East Jordan, Archie Murphy leader, the remarkable exhibit of knitted articles of Mrs. Leatha Larsen's club of East Jordan. Although the South Arm Club had the blue ribbon display in clothing, the largest and most complete display was made by the Boyne City clothing club.

The best food preparation display was made by Mrs. Agnes Healey, leader of the Star food club. Garden club honors were shared by South Arm and Star clubs, both were given first place ribbons, leaders were Mrs. Carl Elsworth and Mrs. Frank Hayden.

Conservation Cartoon Contest

OPEN TO STUDENTS ANYWHERE IN THE UNITED STATES

The National Wildlife Federation has asked the high school students of American to create a cartoon character which can be used to tell the story of conservation—and offered prizes totaling $700 in a nationwide contest.

The cartoon contest will take the place of the annual conservation poster contest which the Federation has sponsored for 15 years. Entries must be submitted by next Jan. 31 and winners will be announced during National Wildlife Week in March 1953.

As in the previous poster contests, the cartoon competition will be divided into junior-high and senior-high groups. Students anywhere in the United States, from the seventh grade through the last year in high school, are eligible.

First prize in the Junior division—grades 7, 8 and 9 — is $100. The second best entry will win $50; third, $25; the next ten best, $10 each.

Top winner in the Senior division—grades 10, 11 and 12—will get $250. Second prize is $50; third, $25; next ten, $10 each.

The Federation said the contest was inspired by the success of "Smokey Bear," the cartoon character developed by the U. S. Forest Service in its advertising campaign to prevent forest fires. The wildlife organization hopes to find a similar cartoon symbol which can be used to urge Americans to take care of their natural resources.

The Federation had these suggestions for young artists:

Entries may be a caricature of an animal or person, or the personification of an animan in the manner of another artist. In order to win an entry must be original in design.

The cartoon character may be depicted in an action or pose suggestive of some conservation problem or practice and should be accompanied by an appropriate legend or slogan. The theme may be soil conservation, forstery, water pollution control, flood prevention, protection of wildlife or plant life, or another phase of natural resource management.

The drawing should be done in pen and ink, pencil, charcoal, scratchboard, water color, or other standard medium suitable for reproduction in a newspaper or magazine.

For a copy of the contest rules and other information, write to the Cartoon Contest, National Wildlife Federations, 3308 Fourteenth Street, N. W., Washington 10, D. C.

Home Economics Jottings

Here's a simple and easy way to get your corn off the cob for canning or freezing. Use an angel-food cake pan. Place the ear on the projection in the middle of the pan and with a sharp knife slice the corn from the ear.

Hang clothes up on the straight of the goods putting clothespins at the firmest part.

One method of removing iron rust from white materials is to spread the stain over a pan of boiling water and then squeeze lemon juice on it. After a few minutes, rinse and repeat process. This method is slow—but safe, say Michigan State College home economists.

If your nylon or orlon curtains are neatly folded when you wash them, you will have less trouble with wrinkles and probably less pressing to do. Wash by the usual method, swishing the folded curtains up and through the sudsy wash waters, recommend Michigan State College textiles specialists.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Narrow Town— Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip:

"Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel!

"To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—'there's a train coming!' But the gas fellow just laughs and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!"

From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to "think of the other fellow" so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fanciers and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's "right of way."

Willow Ptaamigan

Eskimos have to keep a sharp lookout when they are hunting Willow Ptarmigan, for the big birds are clever at concealing themselves. When snow covers the ground, they're mostly white, with just a little black on their tails. After the spring thaws, they turn partly brown to match the summer landscape.

Splotches of brown, mixed with some black, cover the male's neck, upper breast, and sides. The rest of his body, in the summer, is mostly white. His tail a dark brown. The female is about the same color, but paler, and there is more white on her head.

Most people in the United States never get to see the changeable birds, because they stay so far north all year. The National Wildlife Federation says that Willow Ptarmingan make their summer homes from Greenland to Alaska. In the winter they come down to central and southern Canada, and only a few of them venture into the northern fringes of our country.

So hardy are the Willow Ptarmigan that they build their nests on the bare ground of the treeless Artic plains. In a hollow lined with a few feathers, leaves or bits of grass, the female lays from six to fifteen large eggs. The eggs are a deep, reddish-cream color, with splotches of purple-brown.

After the female keeps them warm for 26 days, the eggs hatch sometime in July. Both before and after the young birds appear, the male stays near to protect his home against fur-bearing animals and birds of prey.

Getting food for the nesting family is another problem for the parents themselves are big, and the young have hearty appetites. In the summer, while they are still in the far north, they eat the leaves of bushes and trees, together with some insects now and then. For winter meals, they like berries and the tips of tender twigs.

Though they sometimes have trouble in finding enough food, Willow Ptarmingan grow to be large birds—measuring seventeen inches from bill to tail. They are plump, too, and this is much to the liking of the Eskimos, who make many a meal of Ptarmigan.

Lift truck boosts profits for fruit growers

Fruit growers who handle 10,000 crates a year can realize generous savings on labor and equipment costs by using a fork lift truck. A recent study by agricultural engineers of Michigan State College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture revealed this saving: In 1950, without a lift truck, a 25,000-bushel apple crop was moved from orchard to storage by 2 tractors, 4 orchard trailers and 7 men. In 1951 a similar crop was handled by a lift truck with 2 tractors and only 2 trailers and 3 men. Savings on loading and unloading operations alone amounted to $1,000 during the harvest season. Your County Agricultural Agent can give you further advice on mechanizing your orchard operation.

Why we pamper telephone poles

Did you know timber for telephone poles is growing scarce? And that the cost of a single pole has more than doubled since 1940? To insure a proper supply, and to help keep costs down, Michigan Bell is using new timber species such as Western Larch. And to prolong the life of telephone poles on the job, telephone engineers constantly take advantage of new and better timber preservatives. Michigan Bell's pampered poles are further evidence of a continuing effort to hold costs down while keeping the quality of telephone service high.

The Servicemen's Letter

Hi Fellas:

A letter from "Eenie" Richards informs us that he is moving up around Dover. They have about six months work building some hardstands there. He says it's really been raining there lately but none of the "pea Soup" fog as yet. His outfit was out on a three day bivouac last week and spent some time firing the M-1 and the carbine. Eenie's new APO number is 125. He's still with Co A, 817th EAB in England.

Earl Morrison has a new address. He's still at Barksdale AFB in Louisiana but he is now in the 805th Installation Sqdrn, 805 Air Base Group. Looks as if Earl has found himself some regular Air Force work for now.

Dale Lavanway checked in from Fort Devens, Mass. this week to give us a change of address. He doesn't tell much of what he is studying but I guess those boys up at Fort Devens are expected to be a little close-mouthed. He writes, "Just a short letter to let you know of a small change in my address. It now is: Pvt Dale Lavanway, RA 16 404 498, Co G, Stu Bn, ASATR, Fort Devens, Mass.

'I have started school now so that is why I have a different address. School lasts from 7 in the morning until 5 in the afternoon. I'm supposed to go to this school for 12 weeks but I'll still get out before the Morris twins do. I see them every once in a while. Maybe we will be lucky enough to get home together.

'This is Fair Week so I imagine things are pretty busy around East Jordan. Gooy-bye and thanks for the paper."

Nothing much has been said recently concerning who is sending this paper out to you servicemen so perhaps this would be as good a time as any to review the situation. During World War II a local organization was formed in E.J. consisting of two representatives of all the other organizations in this vicinity. This organization was called the Service Mens Club. It's purpose was to keep the welfare of the servicemen and women in front of all the home people and to do something for these men and women who were in the service of the U.S. protecting the ones at home. This organization was supported by contributions from all the other organizations in town and also by special benefits from time to time. When the present emergency arose and the men started to leave again for the service it was suggested that thhis club be revived and function as it had in World War II. This was done and here you are receiving your weekly paper which is paid for and sent to you by this Service Mens Club with the recent help of the East Jordan Community Chest.

A card from Hotts Tot Shop informs us that Ralph Hott FT3 is now with the FTA School, Class 1252, USNRS, Bldg T5, in Washington 25, D.C. Boy, Ralph, you sure are up with the big shots. Are you in the Pentagon by any chance?

After a longe absence we again have Bill Snyder with us. His new address is: Pvt. Wilbur E. Snyder RA 16 405 480, Student Co. 12, TSESS, Det TSU 9600, Camp Gordon, Georgia. Bill — have you run across Leo Danforth as yet? He's in Student Co. No. 3, TSESS in the same Detachment as you.

Earl Muma has reappeared in Amarillo AFB down in Texas. He's there with Walter Moblo and Ed Drapeau. Earls address is: A/3C Forest Earl Muma, 3320 Tech Trng Wing, 3365 Stu Squadron, Amarillo AFB, Texas. In case you men have not already located each other you'll find Walt in the 3366 Student Squadron and Ed can be found over in the 3338 Student Sqdrn.

Last week I made a comment in this letter concerning those boys who are out of High School but still not of Draft age. Well, Well, it seems that Joe Hammond, away over on the other side of of the Atlantic, was doing some thinking about the same thing at about the same time. Anyway, here are some excerpts from a letter whiihch he wrote to his folks concerning the advisability of his brother Bernard joinging up. (Bernard is just 17) Joe writes, "I have seen kids come into this outfit and all they have learned is to drink and smoke and go with the wrong women. These kids think because they have a uniform on they are big wheels and can get served at any bar. — When he becomes 18 years old he can join any branch of service that he likes and then if he doesn't like it he can blame none but himself. The Navy has done me some good in a few ways. I have realized a few things. But you can bet your boots it's no place for a kid."

Of course, what Joe had reference to was a parent signing up for a 17 year old who had not finished High School and was going to quit and go into the service at once. That, if you will remember, is in agreement with what I wrote last week. What I was commenting on was the lost time between graduation from High School and the Draft age of 19 years.

Does anyone know where Alfred Hosler is? When he left here after his furlough and returned to the service he left me the address of Company G, Fort Custer, Michigan. It didn't sound right at the time but he insisted that was all the address they gave him. However, now his papers are being returned. If anyone knows his correct address please bring it in.

Bill Anderson has taken to the airways and his address is now A/B William C. Anderson, Flight 1070, 3703 Training Squadron, Lackland AFB, Texas. Bill I'm glad to see you made the grade so far and wish you lots of luck from here on. Will you, sometime soon, check and find out if Sqd 3703 of Flight 816 is still in training there in Lackland and if Stanley Antoine is still in it? Thanks.

Bob Farmer has reached his base in Korea and sends the following address: A/3C Robert C. Farmer, AF 16 379 489, 6160th Comm Sqd, Box 91, APO 929, C/o p.m. San Francisco, Calif. Bob says that his base is small but very nice and that the food is excellent. He works eight hours a day. The radios must be kept in perfect condition twenty-four hours a day. They are not allowed to leave the base at present. They are about 90 miles from the Combat Zone. The weather there is grand.

Jim Lewis is settled at Fort Leonard Wood and wrote us a letter as follows: "I've had my first week of basic, and can't complain of bad treatment yet. Of the five of us who left Charlevoix, August 6, three are still together, in the same platoon, — Don Gill, Les Melin (both of Charlevoix), and myself. Don is a squard leader, but not of my squard. We had a first long march yesterday, the packs as heavy as they no doubt are always the first time, and the sun as hot. Our company is headed for the Engineer's Corps, after basic, at least most of us. But we will, of course, not stay together.

'I'll be looking forward to my first furlough and a trip back to East Jordan, you can be sure." Thanks, Jim.

Vale Keller is whiling away his time in beautiful Hawaii waiting shipment to Japan. His sister gave me his address as — A/3C Vale Keller, APO 226, C/o PM, San Francisco, California. It seems as though he should have at least a temporary holding outfit number —but she says no so we'll try a couple of papers and see what happens.

Floyd Dufore checks in from Pohang, Korea with the following letter — "Just a few lines to bring you up to date. I have been on the move from the States since June 20th — without an address. Guess my papers are pretty well spread out.

'Have made another rate since I last wrote you sometime ago. I am still in the supply field — some racket — as you know. This is the first permanent address I have had. I will be here for some time for sure. After 42 months in one squadron there in the States I think it was about time I had a transfer, eh?" Here's Floyds address — S/Sgt Floyd L. Durfore, 109 53 04, Hedrow 1, FMAW (Flight Line), C/o FPO, San Francisco, Calif. Congratulations on the boost, Floyd, and thanks for the letter.

Bruce Bolser is home from duty aboard the Owens for this week and the next. He is due back aboard at Norfolk on the 21st of this month.

Wayne Flora was last heard from in San Francisco on his way home from Korea. He ought to be getting in here at any time now.

John Bennett is to be discharged this week. One more man who has served his hitch and now reenters civvies.

Guess I was mixed up a little about Glenn Persons last week. I wrote that he was leaving shortly for Germany and just had time for a 72 hour leave before embarking. I don't know where I got it — must have been dreaming. Anyway, here's the latest and correct dope. Glenn just got back to the states on August 30 from Bremerhaven, Germany. Now his ship, the USS Botetourt, is leaving for Puerto Rico on September 15th. He doesn't know as yet how long he will be there. Keep an eye out for Jim Meredith aboard the USS Formoe and for Don Braman aboard the USS Recovery while down there, Jim.

That's all my notes, so it's So Long until next week.

Ring-Necked Phesants

There was a time, many years ago, when Ring-Necked Phesants were found only in China. From there they spread to Europe, America, and other parts of the world. Whereever they live today, the colorful birds are eagerly sought each season by hunters.

To keep the supply plentiful in our country, state game departments raise and free large numbers of Pheasants every year. Though hatched and held in captivity part of their lives, the birds are wild when turned loose. They show no signs of having lived in pens.

When on their own, Pheasants dominate the territory in which they roam. With a fighting spirit, they crowd out other birds. The male Phesant is the battler of the family, and he often engages in combat with another male or with a barnyard rooster.

The male also sports some of the gayest feathers in the world of birds. Around his eye there is a bright spot of red. His head and neck are dark greenish-purple. Below that he wears a white collar. The rest of his body is a mixture of brilliant colors—red, bronze, green, brown, yellow, and bluish-black.

By comparison the female Phesant is dull and plain—a mixture of brown and chestnut, speckled with black. While this makes her less attractive, the National Wildlife Federation points out that she can hide in the grass more easily than her mate.

This is especially important in the spring, when she is sitting on her nest. It is built on the ground, among some weeds, and contains from six to twelve large, ovile-buff. After she keeps them warm for 23 days, they hatch.

The female takes care of the young until fall. Then they lose their first feathers and begin to resemble their parents. When fully grown, the males are from 33 to 36 inches long and the females are about 20 inches in length. They weigh up to 4½ pounds. Both birds have long slender tails, and the male wears strong spurs on his legs.

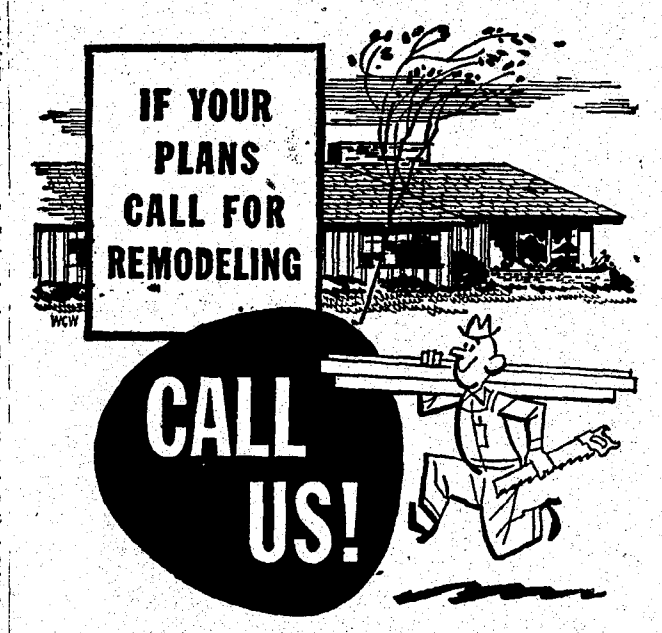

As the weather turns cold, Ring-Necked Pheasants do not journey southward, but stay right where they are. Most of them live the year round in the northeastern fourth of the United States—from Maine to the Dakotas and south to Kansas and Pennsylvania.

Their favorite haunts, in this region, are the farmlands where corn and other grains grow. About two-thirds of their food consists of grain and plant life. To round out their meals, they eat great quantities of insects.

Despite their appetite for grain, Phesants are not a serious menace to farmers. According to the National Wildlife Federation, hunters keep the number of birds down within limits which are controlled by game and conservation authorities.
